

Randal S. Clarno

Managing Partner

Biography

www.pinnaclelanddevelopment.com

Randal has over 35 years of being professionally involved in all aspects of land development. This has included becoming a licensed professional in land surveying, managing a multi-disciplined professional land planning/engineering firm offering services to real estate developers, the Director of Development Services for a mid-sized City overseeing the review and approval of all land use and construction approvals and Senior Vice President of a multi-disciplined real estate development company. Since 1997 Randal has been the managing partner in a number of companies producing many land development projects totaling thousands of lots in 5 states.

Randal's vast background in Civil Engineering, Land Survey, Director of Development, Director of a Planning and Engineering firm is the perfect combination of knowledge to fully understand every stage in the land development process and execute projects in a mindful and fiscally responsible direction.

In 2008 with the collapse of the national housing market and financial system Randal "worked out" of multiple finished distressed projects and produced several development projects over the following 5 years. Then, in April 2014 Randal and his long term partner/investor Greg Hemstreet began developing projects in the Phoenix, Arizona area as well as continuing to develop projects in Boise, Idaho.

Randal has been married for 37 years and has 3 daughters and a son. He is having a great time getting be a grandpa to his grandson and granddaughters. He enjoys travel, outdoor activities and time with family. Randal enjoys being actively involved as well as mentoring and training young men and women in the area of business for the future and being involved in several non-profit organizations.